US keen on India joining crude oil price cap coalition

To ensure India gets cheapest possible oil and Russia is not at an advantage because of the price premium: US official

KR SRIVATS

New Delhi, August 26

The US on Friday urged India to join a crude oil price cap coalition that is being put together across the world to deny Russia the access to resources gained by it from oil supplies to prop up its economy.

"If India were to join the price cap coalition, they could work with members in the coalition in setting the crude oil price. Fundamentally, our goal here is to ensure India has the access to cheapest possible oil they can," Wally Adeyomo, Deputy Secretary, US Treasury, said here after a meeting with Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman.

Asked if he had a commitment from Sitharaman on this proposal, Adeyomo, who is on his first official visit to India post the pandemic, said he had a "constructive" conversation with her on the price cap coalition proposal and that he was committed to having further conversations on this matter.

He said the goal of the price cap would be to lower the price that India pays for oil. "We think India, US are paying too much for energy today because of Russia's unjustified war on Ukraine."

"What the price cap seeks to do is to make sure that India as part of this coalition can demand lowest possible price from Russia while still having a price that would continue to encourage Russia to produce," he said.

Elaborating on the price cap coalition proposal, Adeyomo said that the US through this coalition wants to make sure Russia is not gaining an advantage because of the price premium it has created in the marketplace while encouraging it to produce at a price that is best suited for Indian consumers.

"Ultimately, we are aligned with India that their consumers get the best price possible," he said.

How the price cap works
Adeyomo said the price cap would allow American and European services from around the world to continue to be used for the purchase and transportation of Russian crude on the sea at a price below a certain level.

That level would help deny Russia the extreme promise it has made, thanks to the war with Ukraine it started.

"Our overarching objective is to ensure we reduce Russian revenues by allowing supplies to flow into the marketplace. It is in the best interest of people to get energy at the lowest cost possible and also to deny Russia the revenues that it can use to prop up its economy and further the war in Ukraine."

A number of countries are negotiating with Russia today because Russia wants to try and negotiate entry into long term contracts ahead of the coalition," he said.

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman met Wally Adeyomo, Deputy Secretary, US Treasury, in New Delhi, on Friday. The two sides exchanged views on global economic and financial sector issues.

ED searches premises of CoinSwitch Kuber

HARIPRIYA SUREBAN

Bengaluru, August 26

The Enforcement Directorate (ED) searched the premises of crypto exchange CoinSwitch Kuber for alleged Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) violations. The company has, however, responded saying, "We receive queries from various government agencies..."

According to reports, ED has conducted searches at five locations tied to CoinSwitch Kuber on FEMA violations. The law enforcement agency is reportedly looking at many potential violations under FEMA and other related entities. The ED said, it has decided to search CoinSwitch premises because it didn't receive enough co-operation from the exchange.

This comes at a time when the ED is cracking down on cryptocurrency exchanges to conduct money laundering probes.

The agency has previously conducted searches on one of the directors of Zannai Labs, the entity which owns the crypto exchange WazirX. It had ordered to freeze bank balances totalling ₹64.67 crore. The ED had also seized assets worth ₹370 crore of cryptocurrency exchange Flipvot earlier this month.

f. Management's perception of risk factors : The demand for tyres is dependent upon many external factors like economic growth and infrastructure development in the country as well as emerging global economic scenario. The entire automobile sector is linked to these economic activities. Any slow down in these activities can affect the tyre demand. Similarly, Government policies for economy in general and automobile industry in particular can also impact the demand for tyres as well as its profitability.

The tyre industry is price-sensitive and any rise in raw material costs can impact margin, as tyre prices may not rise proportionately. Rupee depreciation makes the imports costlier thereby impacting raw materials prices & margins. On the other hand, rupee appreciation makes the tyre imports cheaper, thus increasing impact of tyres which impacts local tyre prices.
